Shape

The basic shape poem is written in a shape. There is a special shape poem called a "calligram." This poem takes on the shape of the subject it is written about. A poem about rain would be written in the shape of a raindrop, a tulip poem in the shape of a tulip, a love poem in the shape of a heart, etc. Due to the fact there really aren't any "rules" for these poems, the space below is for you to plan and create!

Shape Poem Planner:
Brainstorm some possible subjects for your shape poem:
Use the space below to write the actual text of your poem.
ose the space below to write the actual text of your poem.

In order for you to have enough room, use the back of this page to craft your text into a shape matching the subject of your poem.

