

September 5

On September 5, 1774, the first Continental Congress convened. One objective of the congress was to compose a statement of colonial rights. If you had been a delegate representing your colony, what right would you have been fighting for and why?